Revised fees for 2010

In order to get maximum value for money when operating your Standard Bank account, it is important that you understand how fees are charged and how much those fees are. By choosing the right type of account and using the account for its intended purpose, you can keep your fees to a minimum. In this brochure are the revised fees applicable to PlusPlan, PureSave and MarketLink accounts from 1 January 2010.

Value added offers

In order to help you reach your savings goals the following benefits are provided on the various products:

- if you maintain a balance of at least R1 000 in your PlusPlan account you do not pay the monthly management fee;
- if you maintain a balance of R6 500 in your PlusPlan account you qualify for five free debit transactions a month. These include cash withdrawals, inter-account transfers, electronic account payments and debit orders;
- electronic inter-account transfers from Standard Bank current and E Plan accounts into PureSave and MarketLink accounts are free of charge; and
- you are also allowed one free electronic transfer from your PureSave and MarketLink accounts into your linked Standard Bank transactional accounts every month.

Managing your bank fees

Keep fees to a minimum on your account by following a few simple guidelines:

- use self-service channels like our ATM network, cellphone banking and Internet banking to operate your account. These services are available 24 hours a day, seven days a week and are much cheaper than going to a branch;
- instead of drawing cash, use features like Electronic Account Payment and Inter-account Transfers via our ATM network and Internet banking;
- take advantage of the free transactions offered on your account during the month; and
- ensure that your accounts have sufficient funds to honour your payments and observe the account terms and conditions.

For more information on the fees or any other aspect of your account, please call Standard Bank Contact Centre on 0860 123 456, visit www.standardbank.co.za or visit any Standard Bank branch.
