I agree that the following terms apply to this Debit Order Switch Mandate: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> I am the Accountholder/signatory for both the old bank account and the Standard Bank account. I am authorised to transact on both bank accounts and to sign this Debit Order Switch Mandate. Standard Bank cannot be held responsible for any losses that I may suffer because Standard Bank acted in good faith in accordance with this Debit Order Switch Mandate. Certain collectors do not accept instructions from third parties (such as Standard Bank) to switch debit orders. Standard Bank will let me know who these collectors are, and I understand that I must contact the collectors directly to switch these debit orders to the Standard Bank account. All information set out in this Debit Order Switch Mandate (including Annexure A) is accurate and complete. Standard Bank cannot be held responsible if it acts on any instruction based on any incorrect or incomplete information. I give consent for Standard Bank to process (and disclose to the relevant collectors where applicable) the information set out in this Debit Order Switch Mandate (including Annexure A) for the purposes set out herein. I must give Standard Bank at least 30 days' notice to switch the debit orders set out in Annexure A. Standard Bank will let me know if any collector requires any other changes to the debit order details, such as the debit order date. I must keep enough funds in both the old bank account and the Standard Bank account until all the debit orders have been switched. Standard Bank has no control over when and whether a collector will update the debit order with the Standard Bank account details. It is my responsibility to make sure that all the debit orders have been switched and processed correctly and in line with the agreements to which they relate. If I become aware of any debit order that has not been switched or is not being processed correctly, I must take this up directly with the collector.
